

WOODS SEEKS LAW TO DEPORT ALIEN FELONS

Returns From Washington With Congressional Pledges in Support of Immigration Amendment.

Police Commissioner Woods returned to-day from Washington, where he has been conferring with Congressman John L. Burnett, of Alabama, chairman of the House Committee on Immigration; and Congressman Isaac Siegel and Joseph V. Flynn, of New York, members of the committee. Commissioner Woods said they had pledged their support to immigration law amendments providing that any alien can be deported if it is proven he was guilty of felony before arriving here.

Under the present law an alien who has been in the United States for three years cannot be deported if convicted of felony, or if at the end of the three-year period he is found to be guilty of acts of moral turpitude before arriving here. Commissioner Woods would change the law so that the alien can be returned to the country of his citizenship until he becomes a citizen of the United States.

While Deputy Commissioner under Gen. Brannan and since assuming office as Commissioner Mr. Woods has studied immigration problems diligently. He declared that a great percentage of the American cities is committed by aliens, and that because of our present three-year rule American prisons are loaded with foreign criminals who should be deported, who never intended to seek United States citizenship and would make undesirable citizens even if they did swear allegiance to Uncle Sam.

March Weather Dangerous to Health

In most parts of the U. S. March weather is usually a series of rain, wind, hail and snow storms. Many people who have weathered the storms of the previous months easily succumb to the chilling blasts of March. Statistics show that the mortality rate reaches its highest point in March, due largely to the fact that grip, pneumonia and other pulmonary troubles claim many victims.

LEGISLATORS O. K. MAYOR'S PLAN TO CUT DOWN TAXES

Eleven Senators and Nine Assemblymen Approve Mitchell's Proposals.

OTHERS PROFFER AID.

Lawmakers All Agree Steps Are Necessary to Reduce Rates in City.

The Tax Reduction Committee, which is helping Mayor Mitchell in his fight for Home Rule Legislation, is conducting a line-up of the Senators and Assemblymen on their attitude. Thirty-four Senators and Assemblymen have been heard from to date. Eleven Senators have replied they are in favor of all eight measures favored by the Mayor, as a result of The Evening World's suggestions. Ten Assemblymen have made similar replies.

The Senators who have unequivocally pledged themselves are: Bernard M. Patten, Second District; William B. Carswell, Sixth District; John J. Boylan, Fifteenth District; Robert F. Wagner, Sixteenth District; John J. Dunnigan, Twenty-first District; Irving J. Joseph, Twentieth District; Henry D. Doll, Twelfth District; Christopher J. Sullivan, Eleventh District; George W. Simpson, Nineteenth District; Daniel J. Carroll, Seventh District; George Cronwell, Twenty-third District.

The Assemblymen willing to support the Mayor are: William A. Bucher, Nineteenth District, Kings; Joseph D. Kelly, Twelfth District, New York; William S. Evans, Thirtieth District, New York; Joseph M. Callahan, Thirty-fifth District, New York; Peter A. McArdle, Fourth District, Kings; Herman Kramer, Thirtieth District, Kings; Martin G. McGug, Sixteenth District, New York; Vincent Gilroy, Seventeenth District, New York; Thomas T. Bell, Twenty-first District, New York; C. D. Donohue, Ninth District, New York.

Two Republican Senators say they are in favor of "some of the measures" but qualify their approval by questioning others. They are Ogden L. Mills of the Seventeenth, and Charles C. Lockwood of the Fourth District. Mills questions the constitutionality of giving New York City a share of State highways constructed with State bonds. He also has "grave doubts" about letting New York City in on the proceeds of the stock transfer tax.

Senator James A. Hamilton of the Twenty-second District does not come forth flat-footed for the Mayor's program, but admits there should be legislation to reduce the tax burden here and hopes to be of some service in that direction.

Six Assemblymen who won't go any further than saying they agree the city is entitled to relief by legislation are: August C. Flannery, Twentieth District, Kings; George C. Brennan, Eleventh District, Kings; William T. Simpson, Twelfth District, Kings; Fred M. Ahern, Tenth District, Kings; Robert McManis, Twenty-fifth District, New York; Stephen D. Stephens, Richmond.

Senator William Bennett declines to give an assurance as to how he will vote. He claims to be in general sympathy with the plan, however. He agrees with The Evening World that the Schoharie watershed plan and the new Court House project should be abandoned.

Assemblyman William O'Hare, who has not yet carefully read the Mayor's measure, believes the city should give up the Schoharie watershed purchase.

"SNOWY-BREADED PEARL" WAS PAT'S NAME FOR WIDOW

Carey Threatened to Kill Himself for Mrs. Toler, Her Sister Testifies.

Sessions of the Widows' Club, when Patrick J. Carey, fifty-five-year-old

Beau Brummel, addressed Mrs. Minerva B. Toler, it is alleged, as his "snowy-breasted pearl" in the presence of three other widows, were described to-day by Mrs. Florence Brundage, sister of Mrs. Toler, when she took the witness stand before Supreme Court Justice Philbin and a jury.

Mrs. Toler, wealthy widow, was to have gone on the witness stand to tell her side of the $50,000 allegation suit brought against her by Carey's wife, Elizabeth, mother of his thirteen children. But Mrs. Brundage, also a widow, had so much to say about Patrick's wooing of the Widow Toler that her examination took up the entire morning session.

The Widows' Club was formed without ceremony, Mrs. Brundage said, shortly after Carey made a hit with Mrs. Toler in a theatre box by gallantly telling her she need not remove her hat. When Patrick wanted to see more than the actors, Mrs. Brundage said, was her sister. Patrick wore his high silk hat and his frock coat and, as Mrs. Brundage related, he "did really look like a gentleman and was—oh! so polite."

After a brief conversation with the two widows, Carey was invited to Mrs. Toler's home.

"As one can never tell in New York whether a man is married or not," Mrs. Brundage said, "Mrs. Toler used some precaution by asking Patrick if he were married. He laughed and said: 'Why, you are a widow, Mrs. Brundage, Mrs. Toler is a widow, and I am a widower with three children. How pleasant that is. We certainly ought to have an enjoyable meeting.'"

To make Patrick's call more sociable Mrs. Toler called in Mrs. Olive Brundage, also a widow, whose blonde hair, contrasted to her widow's weeds, brought forth words of admiration from Patrick.

Patrick was not backward in his love making, Mrs. Brundage said, she said he amused the widows by pouring sweet words into Mrs. Toler's ears. To make himself more popular he brought along several photographs of himself. His favorite was a gold "My Snowy Breasted Pearl," and while the machine was rasping forth its melody, Patrick sat beside Mrs. Toler and called her his "snowy-breasted pearl." Evergreen, Mrs. Brundage testified, enjoyed the call from "the poor, lonesome widower," as the witness described Carey.

A few days later Carey began writing an avalanche of letters. "They became so numerous and so fervent," Mrs. Brundage said, "that my sister grew tired of him. Why, she read them to us, we read them ourselves and then we destroyed them. They were too mushy."

In the first letter Carey wrote, the witness continued, "he called my sister his snowy-breasted pearl. In his second letter he said he was jealous of widows and especially of Mrs. Toler."

"Then he paid us another call and showed us all by making love openly before all us widows—to my sister. As he was leaving the apartment he showed a photograph of Mrs. Toler from the wall. Mrs. Toler asked him to return it, but he refused."

A tragedy threatened to upset the romance, Mrs. Brundage said, when

Patrick went to Springfield, Mass., and wrote an affectionate note asking the widow Toler to join him "just for a kiss." She said she wrote: "If my snowy-breasted pearl does not come to see me, I shall do something frightful. I will kill myself. When they find my body, they will also find Mrs. Toler's photograph (the one I took from the wall) on my body and a note pinned to it. These will be on my breast. And I will say in the note: This is the photo of Mrs. Minerva Toler, for whose great love Patrick Joseph Francis Bannet Carey died this awful death."

"We were really frightened at Carey," she had threatened so many times to kill himself," said Mrs. Brundage. "So my sister went to Springfield, not so much to save Carey's life, but to get back the photograph."

DESERTED WOMAN KILLS SELF WITH GAS

Had Been in Financial Straits Since Husband Left Her a Month Ago.

A woman who went to live in a furnished room house at No. 271 West Eleventh Street on Dec. 27, giving the name of Mrs. Jacob H. Skulnick and accompanied by a man who was introduced as her husband, was found dead in her room this morning. She had committed suicide by gas. The man left the house a month ago and had not been seen since by the other roomers.

Mail addressed to the woman as Mrs. Jennie Landon was received by her at the house and some of the letters found in her room appeared to come from her niece, Miss F. E. Cooke of Meriden, Conn. It was said at the house that the woman appeared to have been in financial straits recently. She was behind in her room rent and since the disappearance of the man she had taken in sewing in an effort to earn a living.
